If you answer more No than Yes in your survey, perhaps you should look into planning your estate plan to protect your loved ones. Without a Will, your assets could be more burdensome than beneficial to your family at a time when they are most vulnerable. The distribution involved can be a long legal process especially if there is a dispute. You should never assume that your assets would automatically go to the person you want to benefit. Give them security by making a Will and the law will protect your wishes. Leave us your contact details and our Estate Planner will be in touch with a Free Will and Trust consultation
